

Britannica
Knowledge Systems

Innovative Training Management

A detailed view of an aircraft cockpit from the perspective of the pilot's seat. The image shows the instrument panel with multiple digital displays and analog gauges, the central console with various levers and switches, and the yoke. The lighting is focused on the controls, with a dark background.

fox for TRAINING PROVIDERS

With over a decade of experience in providing aviation training management systems, Britannica Knowledge Systems is the vendor of choice for leading training providers worldwide.

As the industry's most comprehensive and scalable solution, Fox for Training Providers successfully supports the complex requirements of training centers for pilot, maintenance and cabin crew training.

Fox's unique features boost operational efficiency, optimize resource utilization, significantly improve your customers' satisfaction, increase revenues, and reduce fines for regulatory violations.

Training Development

Easily create a tailor-made training program for each customer, including training and testing materials, reports and grading forms per customer requests. Fox supports AQP, ATQP, traditional and EBT methodologies.

LMS

Define student tasks and competencies. Manage training and testing materials, e-learning sessions and feedback forms.

Resource Management

Optimize resource utilization to increase capacity and maximize revenue. Manage instructor availability and simulator downtime.

Scheduling

Apply scheduling rules to comply with regulation and reduce cost of violations. Improve long-term planning while quickly responding to customer requests and short-term ad-hoc changes.

Customer Request Management

Provide your customers with real-time access to course catalog and available slots, enabling them to easily book sessions (full course/seat-based), increasing your revenue and customer satisfaction.

Customer Communication Management

Provide premium customers with digital access to their training program - plan, execution and results - presented using customized reports and dashboards, saving them time and increasing satisfaction.

Qualification

Monitor instructor qualifications, get notifications before expiration dates, manage renewals and ensure only qualified instructors are scheduled.

Student Tracking

Document each student's training data to meet regulatory recordkeeping requirements. Easily track training progress. Alert students before the next training session to ensure early registration.

Grading

Mobile app enables evaluators to complete evaluation forms in real time, synchronizing the data automatically, assuring fully completed forms and saving time.

Integrations & Architecture

Fox's enables full data integration with any existing systems such as billing, maintenance, HR and more.

Fox can be installed on-premises or in the Cloud.

Finance

Define fixed and varied pricelists, track training hours, produce financial reports and provide accurate information to your billing system.

Reports & Analytics

Enable your team to manage KPIs for revenue, costs, performance and customer satisfaction. Customize reports for different departments, roles and permissions.

To learn more about Fox for Training Providers and to schedule a demo, contact us at: